Chain-snatchers back to haunt city

Bike-borne duo on chain-snatching spree; target 5 women between 6.35 am and 8 am

Mysuru, May 2 (RK&SR)- Chain-snatchers are back in action. And this time too, it is the dreaded 'Black Pulsar' bike that was spotted in action early this morning at five localities where five women were targeted between 6.30 am and 8 am. A video grab of the chain-snatching incident at one of the places show criminals wearing full-face helmets, white shirts and blue jeans.

So swift was their action that the Police had no clue about their coordinated strike at five places and the cops are now looking at CCTV footages to nail the criminals. After examining all the five incidents, the Police have concluded that the same bike-borne duo was involved in all the five chain-snatching incidents.

The first incident was reported from Vidyaranyapuram Police Station limits at around 6.35 am. The bike-borne duo targeted 60-year-old Jayamma who was walking on Vidyaranyapuram Link Road along with another woman.

Jayamma was on her regular morning walk when the miscreants grabbed her chain and rode away. She lost her gold chain that weighed 22 grams.

The second incident was also reported from Vidyaranyapuram Police limits where 65-year-old Jayalakshmi's 12-gram gold chain was snatched as she was walking alone on Akkamahadevi Road at 6.45 am.

Private event in public glare

Although the event of performing the marriage of their daughter by parents takes place as a private activity of the family, by following all the steps both preceding the event and going through its paces in letter and spirit, given the presence of close kith and kin as well as others including friends and well-wishers at large in hundreds, one cannot be faulted to deny the public glare. When biggies in society perform weddings with the customary glitz and glamour with budgets in astronomical proportions, the event is bestowed space in the columns of dailies as news under the caption society wedding with pictures of the newly weds along with VIP guests to boot. Both instances of mass marriage under the aegis of some religious institutions and public-spirited charitable institutions, a unique feature of many regions across the country have been models of relieving families of economically weaker sections of society the burden of incurring expenses and consequent financial hardship.

Marriages are often glorified by perceiving the events as made in heaven with a message of divine blessing ordained by the unseen superior power according to pundits. The customs being adhered by different sections of society following various faiths in performing the marriage of girls in our times makes a fascinating study from many angles.

The act of betrothal promising the marriage of their daughter by parents being described by the expression kanyadaan as a duty is a unique feature of the land's time-honoured culture. Inviting guests in large numbers and spending on fulfilling the all-too-familiar formalities, not to forget the lavish lunch is not every family's cup of tea. The major negative of the marriage event is the phenomenon of imitating the Joneses by parents burdening themselves financially. The point of letting the society at large know about the event of marriage of their daughter by parents inviting guests as a mass is well-taken. But, not trimming the frills that amount to extravagance by families with modest means drives them to a state of bother.

Child marriages, not permissible under the land's laws and mass marriages do qualify to be public events, apart from those marked by extraordinary features including big budgets. In all other cases, marriage is a private event that has tended to be bestowed public glare in our times, but at the expense of the party concerned.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Smoking may be injurious to health but not reading about it! Among things available for producing smoke from tobacco, the beedi will be in the bottom rung. Not that beedis were fancied only by the working class. A few men who have money to burn are known to have the pluck to smoke beedis in public. A smoker who is enjoying an after dinner gasper, releasing clouds of rich, aromatic, tobacco smoke, especially during a wintry night, would deem a non-smoker, who would not touch it with a barge pole, a filtered muff. That the smoke he inhales will not fumigate his lungs but will darken it like the gas passing through a factory chimney may not register in his mind.

The hospital that gives instant six-pack abs

Bangkok: A hospital in Bangkok, Thailand, recently went viral for offering a plastic surgery procedure that gives patients instant six-pack abs. Though getting defined six-pack abs is really hard and for some it is impossible no matter how much we work out, plastic surgeons at Masterpiece Hospital are performing a procedure called abdominal etching, where they remove some of the fat on the abdomen to make that hidden six-pack visible. There are no plastic or silicone implants involved, just some abs-focused liposuction.

Abdominal etching involves methodically sucking out the fat around the patient's abdomen to really bring out their six-pack. It's actually nothing new, as it was first performed by a Texas surgeon during the 1990s. However, Masterpiece Hospital CEO, Raweewat "Sae" Maschamadol, claims that he has traveled abroad to study different procedures and has developed his own technique. He adds that the two-to-four hours surgery is neither dangerous nor painful.

Supermarket sued after cheating $0.008

Beijing: A man has taken a supermarket chain to Court after allegedly being cheated out of 0.04 yuan ($0.008) because the checkout clerk rounded down the change he was owed. The plaintiff, named only as Xiao, claimed that after shopping at Yonghui Superstores and offering 55 yuan ($8.16) for groceries worth 54.76 yuan ($8.12), he was given back only 0.20 yuan instead of 0.24 yuan. He didn't really need the 0.04 yuan ($0.008), but he considered the rounding off system to be cheating, so he decided to sue them.

A judge ordered Yonghui Superstores to pay Xiao the change he was owed, as well as 50 yuan ($7.41) in legal fees. That may seem insignificant, but the plaintiff actually reached his goal, as news of his unusual case went viral on social media.

Viswamanava Express: A suggestion

Sir,

At present people who are working in and around K.R. Puram, Whitefield, are travelling by Viswamanava Express reaching KSR, Bengaluru around 9.15 am and in turn catching Arkonam Passenger to reach their work places (to avoid heavy road traffic) around Hoodi Railway Station as late as 11.15 am many a time.

The newly-started Mysuru-Chennai Express is helpful to reach K.R.Puram where many Companies are located but the train starts from Mysuru at 4.45 am reaching KSR at 7.20 am leaving only after 40-45 minutes. If it starts between 5 am - 5.30 am from Mysuru, being a superfast train it can reach Bengaluru after 7.30 am and proceed for onward journey at 8 am to reach Whitefield, thus helping the employees to reach their work spots on time. I request SWR authorities to change the timings and help the commuters.

Neighbour arrested for murdering mother-daughter in Somwarpet

Madikeri, May 2- Somwarpet Police have yesterday arrested one person in connection with the double murder in Somwarpet which took place on Tuesday. 45-year-old Kavitha, a widow, and her daughter identified as 17-year-old Jagashri were found dead at their farm in Doddamalthe village on Tuesday. The arrested person has been identified as Dileep, who owns a property adjacent to the estate owned by Kavitha.

Mother Kavitha and daughter Jagashri

Kavitha and Jagashri were found murdered at their family-owned coffee estate at Doddamalthe village. According to the Police, the duo was working in their plantation when they were attacked by Dileep.

On Tuesday, Kavitha along with her daughter Jagashri, who was studying in second PUC in St. Philomena's College in Hassan, visited her estate. When the duo did not return home in the evening, Kavitha's son Mega Madan Raj, who is studying in eighth standard at Morarji Desai Residential School in Virajpet, contacted his mother over her cell phone and found it was switched off.

Eventually, Mega Madan Raj informed his neighbours, who coordinated a search effort of the coffee estate, it was only later that the locals discovered the bodies in the estate and informed the Police. Based on the marks on the bodies, the officials from the jurisdictional Somwarpet Police Station had said that both the victims were attacked repeatedly with a sharp-edged weapon.

Police said that Dileep was constructing a house and the road to the house was located in the land belonging to Kavitha and Kavitha had objected to the entry of Dileep to his property through her estate. Following the dispute, a case was registered by both the parties in the Police Station seven years ago. A Court case was also filed. Both the parties engaged in rift often, according to the residents of the local villages.

Dileep used the road passing through the farm, to transport construction materials. When Kavitha, the owner of the land, locked the gates, the accused would break the locks and this would aggravate the differences between them, the Police said.

After the murder came to light, the Police took Dileep and his two family members into custody where Dileep is said to have confessed of killing Kavitha and Jagashri with a sharp-edged weapon. The other two persons were released as they had no role to play in the crime while Dileep was formally arrested. He was produced before a Court today that sent him to judicial custody.

It was barely a few weeks ago that Jagashri had come home for the summer holidays. Mega Madan Raj too had come home for summer holidays. Their father Veeraraju had committed suicide eight years ago.

Holiday Designers: The latest trend

By N.K.A. Ballal,
Retd. Sr. Vice-President, ITDC

Ballal

The United Nations World Tourism Organisation has predicted that India will account for 50 million outbound tourists by 2020 — a sharp increase from the present figure of 25 million. The same report says that Indian tourists are among the highest spenders per visit in the world and this spend is estimated to rise from 2018 figure of 23 billion to 45 billion by 2022. India's list of millionaires doubled from 2007 to 2017 and that number is expected to grow to 9,50,000 millionaires by 2027 !

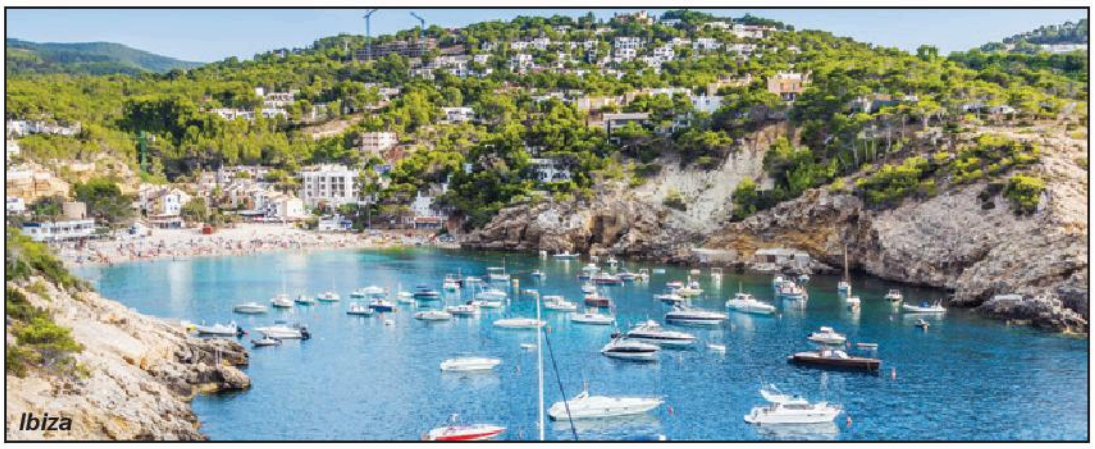
The country's new net-worth population is growing at more than 20 percent and is the fastest in the world. The latest UN data shows that Indians spent 18 billion for travel abroad in 2017 and annual growth of 9%, one of the fastest growth rates in the world. The benchmark spend has been surging. If five years ago, high-end Indian travellers were comfortable spending 1000 dollars (Rs. 69,528.50) per person per night, on an African safari, but now they do not mind spending up to 3500 dollars (Rs. 2,43,349.75) per person ! I am sure all this splurge cannot be white. The black money phenomena has reduced but not over. With so much money to splurge, our Indians are going overboard in savouring exotic customised travel being offered by our travel industry. These agents are now called as "Travel Designers" ! Let us look at some of the customised travel plans on offer:

100-day honeymoon package

Travel Designer Viswanathan Gopalakrishnan of Chennai designed a 100-day honeymoon package for ultra-high-net-worth couple from South. Everything was monitored, right down to their laundry and though the couple did not want to "show off" their vacation, it featured many brag worthy moments. Covering 36 cities, it included Coldplay concerts in Hamburg, during which the band performed the newly-wed's play-list and met them backstage.

Swiss Alps

Kenya Wildlife Safari



Ibiza

The groom visited the Audi and Porsche factories to learn how to handle their race cars. Once he was certified, a simulated race was organised for him at the Ascari race track, where he competed with other semi-professional racers. His wife attended a three-day workshop in France on how perfumes are made, and marketed. The couple also visited a watch factory in Switzerland where a custom-made watch was gifted to them, a gift from a relative who wanted them to receive it in the watch factory.

While on their honeymoon, only one dedicated staff member was allowed to contact the couple. She coordinated their flights and bookings. All their luggage-shopping and items they did not want to use was shipped to their London flat after every stop. Their laundry was managed out of Chennai ! Their clothes were washed and delivered to their next destination or London apartment. What a logistic challenge and it took the travel agent three months to plan. How much did this fantasy cost? Your guess is as good as mine.

Luxury vacation at game reserves

Arun Lalsi of Experiential Travel Journeys has clients whose idea of luxury vacation is visiting game reserves in Rwanda and Botswana. Such a holiday for a family of four can cost Rs. 75 lakh upwards, he says. Included in this package are luxury tents that come with butlers, helicopter transfers, rent for satellite phones etc. Every other month he sends his clients photographs of a new destination like some private islands, Swiss Chalets in Alps. These are ideas for them to travel. Money just does not matter. The more exclusive the venue is the higher the demand.

These vacations have moved beyond staying in a luxury hotel and shopping for designer goods. It is now "Designer Experiences." One of Arun's clients wanted to watch the famous Cherry Blossom in bloom but he did not want to share his cherry blossom visit with anybody else. He wanted to walk in the avenue all alone with his wife. So the travel agent went in advance, checked all the avenues where Cherry Blossom trees were planted, found out a deserted avenue and booked it for this couple, with a romantic Tamil song timed for the walk ! We may think it is absurd but for the couple it is an "Exclusive Experience."

Rs. 1.2 crore for a 6-day trip

Six people from North India had no qualms spending Rs. 1.2 crore for a 6-day trip to Ibiza, the world party capital. They wanted a big yacht, painted black only, so they hired a yacht from footballer Cristiano Ronaldo at a price of 25,000 euros (Rs.19,48,011.89) a day. At the destination of Ibiza, each member wanted an exclusive suite. They chartered a big plane for a 30-minute flight to another European destination for a cool sum of 30,000 euros (Rs. 23,37,614.26).

It is a well-known fact all over the world that Indians splurge on their weddings. If one wants to book Shah Rukh Khan to dance for 15 minutes you must be ready to cough up a cool Rs. 1 crore. And there are enough people who are ready to shell out that kind of money. Recently Ambani's son's marriage was in news. The invitation card itself cost Rs. 3 lakh ! The bride's dress in diamonds cost a cool Rs. 3 crore. But for Indians to splurge money on holidays is a new phenomena.

I have just enumerated a few classical examples of extravaganzas the modern Indian does not mind experimenting and does not mind splurging, an unknown phenomenon a few years back. So next time you want to dine in an exclusive restaurant or meet a celebrity on your holiday, dial Holiday Designers. They will try to make your fantasy a reality, at a price, of course. The latest trend is honeymoon photography. Professional photographers are sent with the couple to capture all the magic moments of their travel.

What is the reason all the countries are holding Road Shows in India offering exotic holidays? Why do they want Indian tourists? Simple, Indians are high spenders on shopping.

Everyone now is in search of that brand "Exclusivity." Every year our Rotarians make a trip abroad. So next time why not try an "Exclusive Experience." It may be worth it. Of course, everything comes with a price tag.

Chain-snatchers back to haunt city

Pic.1: A CCTV footage shows two women walking in Vidyranyapuram as a bike approaches them. Pic.2: The bike-borne miscreants speeding away after snatching the chain of one of the two women. Pic. 3: The same bike-borne miscreants who committed the crime in Ittigegud.

After leaving Vidyaranyapuram, the chain-snatchers entered Nazarbad Police limits that is over 3 kms from the place where the second incident took place.

At 6.55 am, they targeted 79-year-old B. Suganadevi near Karaga Temple in Ittigegud and snatched her gold chain weighing 80 grams. The victim was walking towards a milk booth near her house to buy milk. This incident took place within a few minutes of Garuda Police patrol vehicle leaving the area.

The Karaga Temple in Ittigegud is a densely populated area in city and snatching a chain in such an area is seen as a new strategy by the chain-snatchers as it makes it very difficult for the Police to chase them and catch them. Interestingly, even though it was a crowded area, none of the public made an attempt to chase the bike-borne miscreants. It may be recalled that earlier chain-snatchers used to target victims in sparsely populated areas.

After snatching in Nazarbad Police limits, the bike-borne criminals next moved into V.V. Puram Police Station limits at around 7 am where they snatched the mangalsutra weighing 7 grams from 55-year-old Gayathri Somasekhar. The victim had come out of her house to put rangoli at Gokulam 3rd Stage near Subramanya Temple on KRS Road. It is reported that Gayathri was to leave for Tirupati after her morning ritual of putting rangoli in front of the house.

After taking an hour's break and doing a recce of the areas, the criminals next entered Narasimharaja Police limits at Unnatinagar at 8 am and snatched the gold chain from 80-year-old Lalithamma weighing 40 grams. The victim was on her regular morning walk.

In the meanwhile, the Police could not react soon enough to deploy patrol vehicles everywhere.

But senior Police officials conducted an emergency meeting later in the morning and alerted respective Police Station Officers to check suspicious bike riders at major roads in the city.

The Police have also collected CCTV footage from houses around the roads were the incidents have occurred in order to gather clues to nab the culprits.

They also appealed to women not to venture out of their houses displaying gold ornaments. Speaking to Star of Mysore, City Police Commissioner K.T. Balakrishna said that he has given instructions to all officers and staff to intensify search operation to nab the criminals.

'Master' Hirannaiah passes away at 85

Among the plays, it was 'Lanchavathara' which made him a household name among Kannadigas as he took on corruption in his own way. This play had over 12,000 shows across the globe. His way of using humour and satire to throw light on the serious societal issues earned him huge fan following.

Not just on corruption, his plays dealt with social evils like dowry, casteism, etc. He preferred theatre to cinema as he could express his views without censorship. Interestingly, his 'Lanchavathara' came under the wrath of the Congress government in 1963 as it attempted to ban the play.

He believed in the philosophy that the world is a stage run by the God and each one of us should play their roles as per their abilities. In his lifetime, he won innumerable awards that include Dr. Gubbi Veeranna award in 1998.

Hirannaiah's big break came during the draconian Emergency between 1975 and 1977. When most actors stopped acting or were afraid of criticising the government of Indira Gandhi, Hirannaiah took on her courageously by staging plays against the "murder" of democracy. He was proud of his act. He used to describe how he fought Emergency through his plays.

His plays were always a big hit and it was almost impossible to get a ticket at times during the peak of his popularity in pre-television days. Even though he had friends in all political parties, his acerbic tongue spared none. He took on all Karnataka chief ministers, including S. Nijalingappa, D. Devaraja Urs and R. Gundu Rao. In the 1990s, he started acting in television serials. Some of them became big hits. His stand-up comedy shows were also popular on the small screen.

A Brahmin from a conservative background, he was fond of alcohol had no inhibitions about making it public. He used to joke that his blood group is alcohol group. After a heart attack, he had stopped drinking. He was quite active till recently and was full of life.

When the 'Master' said sorry to Siddu

At an event held in Mysuru on May 11, 2014, 'Master' Hirannaiah, who is known for his razor-sharp tongue and tongue-in-cheek remarks, courted a controversy after uttering abusive words against the then Karnataka Chief Minister Siddharamaiah, and the then Congress President Sonia Gandhi.

Hirannaiah, speaking after receiving an award at the event, condemned the State government for hiking bus fares immediately after the election. He also said it need not come as a surprise if Sonia Gandhi used Congress party to sell the country off. He also used some abusive words against the leaders and their children.

As soon as they got information of what had happened, Congress workers rushed to the venue, vandalised it and blocked the programme. They damaged the tables and chairs and tore down the banners. However, Hirannaiah had already left the venue as the programme was in the concluding stage.

Hirannaiah, who was taken aback at this unexpected show of dissent, went to Siddharamaiah's house at T.K. Layout in Mysuru and offered unconditional apologies to him. Siddharamaiah took the incident in his stride and saw Hirannaiah off.

Echo of terror attacks in Sri Lanka

Kerala's Muslim Educational Society bans burqas in all its colleges

Kozhikode, May 2- A major controversy has erupted in Kerala after a college in the State's Malappuram district banned Burqa at its college premises. What makes this move a massive development, the decision has been taken in a Muslim majority region in Kerala.

The circular was passed by the Muslim Education Society (MES) in Kozhikode on Apr. 17 and it states that burqas in all schools and colleges under MES will be banned. The MES runs several colleges in Kerala.

"There is a Court order that says any dress with is against the changing society should not be permitted, which includes not just Burqa but other kinds of dress which they think is not proper," the circular stated. The third paragraph in the circular clearly states that any dress that covers the face of the woman should be banned.

The debate on Burqa was ignited in India after Sri Lanka banned all type of 'face coverings' following a series of suicide attacks in which over 250 people were killed. Several organisations in Kerala have condemned the circular and said that it goes against religious tenets and sentiments of the community and that MES has to consult various organisations before taking such decisions.

The Shiv Sena triggered a massive row in a controversial editorial of its mouthpiece 'Saamna' where it demanded a Burqa ban in public places and urged Prime Minister Narendra Modi to follow Sri Lanka's suit, which banned face veils after deadly bomb blasts ripped through the country on Easter Sunday.

Vegetable prices soar in city

Mysuru, May 2 (RKB&DM)- The citizens of Mysuru are a worried lot as vegetable prices continue to soar during this summer season. However, the price of beans which hovered around Rs. 100 a kilo in the past week, saw a little slump with the vegetable being sold at Rs. 80 per kg in city markets today.

As far as the rest of the vegetables are concerned, peas was being sold at Rs. 120-140 a kg, green chilli at Rs. 60 a kg, seeme badane at Rs. 50 a kg, carrot and Tomato Rs. 30-40 a kg and beetroot around 30 a kg.

Vendors were seen selling one bundle of coriander leaves at Rs. 20, which in normal situation would not cost more than Rs. 10.

Vegetable traders attributed the rising prices of beans and other vegetables, to the growing demand from bigger cities like Bengaluru and the fall in production owing to drought.

Also, the demand for vegetables, has increased significantly as this is the wedding seasons, they said and added that regular supplies to the city has fallen short as a number of vegetable growers are taking their produce to Bengaluru, where they get an attractive price.

Decoding Mythology

Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik - Author, Speaker, Illustrator, Mythologist

Indra's rise to kingship

The Brahmana, orally transmitted by priests who came to be known as Brahmins, contain instructions and explanations for the Vedic ritual of yagya. All the four Vedic Samhitas have Brahmanas attached to them. The Brahmana associated with Yajurveda is called Taittiriya Brahmana. Here, we find stories related with Indra, which are not commonly told. They explain how kingship was seen in Vedic times, over 3,000 years ago, very different from how kingship came to be seen in Puranic times, in the past 2,000 years, by which time Indra had lost his exalted status and was seen as an insecure god, and inferior to Vishnu.

We are told that Prajapati creates the devas and Indra is the youngest deva. He appoints Indra as king, but since he is youngest, his rule is not accepted by his elder brothers. So, he goes back to Prajapati and asks Prajapati to give him his lustre. Prajapati passes on his lustre to Indra. As a result, Indra becomes more powerful than his brothers and they accept his right to rule over them. Prajapati, now lustreless, is eclipsed by Indra. Lustre here is a metaphor for power. Power is more important than seniority to make a king.

Then, there is the story of how Indra collected taxes from his subjects. He asked for a lot of taxes and people did not like it. He sent tax collectors to the east, and people moved to the south; he sent tax collectors to the south, and the people moved west; from the west, they moved to the north. Finally, he sent tax collectors to the north, and his subjects had nowhere to go. Indra had to send tax collectors as people never pay taxes voluntarily as they always think taxes are too high.

The third story tells us about the battle of Indra with his arch-enemy Vritra, the first of the asuras. Though Indra kills Vritra, he is unsure of whether he is really dead. So, he sends the Marut to confirm Vritra's death. The Marut go to the battlefield and dance on the body of Vritra. Vritra does not move and that confirms he is dead. This dancing on the dead bodies on asuras turned Marut into the first dancers.

In another story, the asuras perform a yagya, to reach paradise (swarga). Indra approaches them, disguised as a Brahmin, and asks to participate in the yagya. Each asura and Indra create a brick that is used to make the great fire altar. As the yagya is reaching its climax, Indra removes his brick, causing the great altar to collapse. As a result, the asuras turn into spiders, vomiting sticky substances. Only two asuras manage to reach swarga, but in the form of celestial dogs.

Finally, there is the story of how Indra lies to the asuras that he will not kill them, but ends up killing them as they sleep. Since he used falsehood to win the war, he performs a ritual of purification and after removing the falsehood, returns to swarga.

All these stories show an understanding of Vedic rituals, which were created to cleanse ambitious, young kings of their dark deeds. As per legend, the sage known as Yajnavalkya rejected such rituals, as they enabled and condoned unethical acts. This angered his guru, who asked Yajnavalkya to vomit out all he had learned. This vomit was consumed by other students, who took the form of partridges, or the Tittiri bird. Therefore, the knowledge that was regurgitated came to be known as Taittiriya Brahmana.

Seminar on 'Ideologies of Ambedkar'

Mysore University VC Prof. G. Hemantha Kumar is seen watering a plant to inaugurate the 128th birth anniversary of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar at Kuvempu Institute of Kannada Studies (KIKS) here on Apr. 30 as KIKS Director Dr. N.M. Talwar, writer Dr. Moodnakudu Chinnaswamy and others look on.

Mysuru, May 2 (US&PM)- Kuvempu Institute of Kannada Studies (KIKS), University of Mysore, had organised a seminar on 'Ideologies of Dr. Ambedkar' as part of the 128th birth anniversary of Dr. B.R. Ambedkar at its premises in Manasagangothri here on Apr. 30.

Inaugurating the programme by watering a sapling Vice-Chancellor Prof. G. Hemantha Kumar opined that Ambedkar should not be remembered on just one day but eternally. He lauded the vision of Ambedkar who visualised the rights of people in voting, employment and politics stressing the importance for women. Referring to the UoM's Kannada Encyclopaedia, the VC said that the process of compilation will restart and the mission would be accomplished soon.

Speaking as the chief guest writer Dr. Moodnakudu Chinnaswamy said that Ambedkar always fought for eradication of casteism but regretted that caste has become a very important factor now in every sector. He observed that untouchability is still in practice in India which should be totally removed.

Resource Persons spoke on various contemporary topics. KIKS Director Dr. N.M. Talwar, Folklore Head Dr. Nanjaiah Honganur and others were present.

'A two-party system should emerge in India'

Freedom fighters Ashwathanarayan, T. Venkatachalaiah and T. Puttanna, who were felicitated at a programme at the Institution of Engineers on JLB Road here on Apr. 29, seen with District Freedom Fighters Association President Dr. M.G. Krishnamurthy, District Kannada Sahitya Parishat President Dr. Y.D. Rajanna, writer Prof. Maleyuru Guruswamy and others.

Mysuru, May 2 (US&SPN)- District Kannada Sahitya Parishat together with Dr. K.S. Gowdaiah Prathishtana, K.R. Nagar, had organised a talk on freedom fighter Thagaduru Ramachandra Rao at the Institution of Engineers on JLB Road here on Apr. 29 under a lecture series on unforgettable dignitaries.

Speaking on the occasion, District Freedom Fighters Association President Dr. M.G. Krishnamurthy opined that the country should emerge with only two political parties to contest in polls.

He regretted that over 2,000 parties have registration in India but only a few contest in polls and added that caste has become an important factor in every party.

Recalling the fighting spirit of Thagaduru Ramachandra Rao, he opined that such a spirit is missing in youth today. He observed that politicians are misusing democracy as personal property. He pooh-poohed the false assurances given by political leaders during election campaign which were unrealistic and illogical. Spending crores of rupees during election itself is corruption, he said.

Parishat President Dr. Y.D. Rajanna, writer Prof. Maleyuru Guruswamy, Theatre Artiste N. Nagachandra, Prathishtana President G. Prakash and others were present.

Freedom fighters Ashwathanarayan, T. Venkatachalaiah and T. Puttanna were felicitated on the occasion.

Tahir, Raina shine in CSK's win over Delhi Capitals

Chennai, May 2- Imran Tahir ripped through the Delhi Capitals batting, picking 4/12, as Chennai Super Kings registered a convincing 80-runs victory in the clash between table-toppers at the MA Chidambaram Stadium.

Suresh Raina (59) along with MS Dhoni (44) made solid contributions as CSK ended on 179/4 on a rather slow surface, giving a batting master-class about how to go about an innings on pitches where the ball isn't exactly coming onto the bat.

Shreyas Iyer won the toss and elected to field first. CSK started rather tepidly with the score reading 3/0 after 3.1 overs before Suchith (2/28) picked his first wicket for Delhi Capitals, removing Watson for a nine-ball duck.

Raina came out attacking and found the boundaries with ease. However, CSK could only reach 27/1 after the powerplay. Du Plessis struggled to time the ball but he gave valuable support to Raina who looked good against the spinners and regained his form ahead of the qualifiers.

Raina completed his half-century but departed in the next over to Suchith as Dhawan took a tumbling catch at point.The southpaw looked good for his 59, which came off just 37 balls.

Ravindra Jadeja came out to join Dhoni in the middle and went for the attack right from the first ball. He hit 25 from 10 balls to give the momentum for the late push to the CSK. Umesh Yadav and Unadkat have faced the brunt of Dhoni's bat. Dhoni was off the strike on the 4th delivery but then ran a quick bye off wide before depositing the final two balls into the stands. He ended unbeaten on 44 off 22 balls as CSK finished at 179/4.

In chase, Prithvi Shaw was unlucky to depart early as he hit one sweetly but straight to Raina at covers as Deepak Chahar struck in his first over.

Skipper Iyer joined Shikhar Dhawan and the two looked really good for the visitors. Dhawan targeted Harbhajan Singh but the off-spinner showed his experience once again, persisting with the fuller length. Sweep shot proved to be Dhawan's downfall. That also was the beginning of Delhi collapse.

Pant came out to bat and has often been the case this year, hit an extraordinary boundary over extra cover but then hit the next delivery straight to Dwayne Bravo at long off. Imran Tahir again picked a wicket in his first over. Colin Ingram was caught at his crease as Jadeja got him lbw for 1.

Tahir then struck a double-blow, removing Axar Patel (9) and Sherfane Rutherford (1) in the same over. Dhoni's lightening glove work accounted for Chris Morris (0) and captain Iyer (44) in the same over. The Capitals didn't last long after that and were dismissed for 99.

M.S.Dhoni was chosen as the Man of the Match.

No dearth for drinking water till June, says Chief Secretary

Bengaluru, May 2 (KMS& BCT)- Chief Secretary T.M. Vijaybhaskar has said that there will be no dearth for drinking water till June across the State including Mysuru and the State Government will ensure sufficient supply of water till the end of summer.

Vijaybhaskar

After a review meeting with District Administrations of Karnataka on Tuesday, Vijaybhaskar told reporters that Chief Minister could not participate in the review meetings as election code of conduct was in force and he was holding meetings every fortnight.

24X7 Control Room

The government has decided to set up a 24X7 control room for supplying drinking water during summer. The government was ensuring minimum 55-85 litres of water per person per day and water was being supplied to 60,248 villages. Water was being supplied from dams, reservoirs, hand pumps and borewells. Out of 16,000 RO units to provide drinking water, about 530 were under repair and it will be completed soon, he said. Allaying fears of water shortage, Vijaybhaskar said there was sufficient amount of water in dams to cater to the needs of summer.

KRS water level

At Krishna Raja Sagar Dam, water storage was 89 feet and even in other dams there was good water storage to cater to the needs of the State till June end and the available water will be used for drinking purposes only. The monsoon is expected to set in by June and next two months, water flow from these reservoirs would be maintained as usual, he said. In other areas, where water is not supplied through dams, the District Administrations have been advised to repair and desilt borewells. Barring Kolar area, where borewells are not yielding water, the District Administrations have been allowed to dig new borewells wherever it is necessary.

Tanker trips

Around 1,711 tankers are being used to supply drinking water to 1,141 habitation and the tankers are making 5,270 trips every day. In 26 districts, 1,205 villages are supplied drinking water through 1,893 tankers, he said.

In the wake of drought in 162 taluks, Rs. 1.5 crore allocations had been released to over 100 taluks. For rest 62 taluks, Rs. 75 lakh each has been released, while 14 taluks, which are not drought hit, have been allotted with Rs. 35 lakh each.

Monsoon forecast

As vigorous monsoon has been forecast for Malnad regions of Kodagu, Hassan and Chikkamagalur districts, the government has constituted a senior officers' committee to take precautions.

Two teams of NDRF have been appointed to oversee Kodagu and Dakshina Kannada districts and Rs. 682 crore has been released for natural disaster works, he added.

Currently, Rs. 767.27 crore is available with Deputy Commissioners of all districts, he added. All 176 taluks have been declared as drought hit. The Government has empowered all Zilla Panchayats to take up drilling of borewells bypassing tender procedure in order to ensure supply of drinking water in the drought-affected places.

No delay in sinking borewells

"ZPs need not even obtain permission from the government or call tender for sinking borewells in the next two months. This is being done to ensure supply of drinking water in the affected places without any delay," he said.

Normally, ZPs have to follow the tender procedure as per the Karnataka Transparency in Public Procurement Act for sinking borewells.

"The drought situation is aggravating. Drinking water scarcity is expected to become acute in coming days. Hence, the government has allowed drilling of borewells bypassing tender procedure. The ZPs will also take necessary steps to electrify the borewells immediately," he added.

Rallies, felicitations mark May Day celebrations

Mysuru, May 2 (OSR)- Members of various Trade Unions along with workers from private and public sector units celebrated May Day by taking out a rally in city on Wednesday to uphold the interests of working class.

The rally, organised jointly by several leftist labour unions under an umbrella of trade organisations like AITUC, CITU, AIUTUC, JCTU and BSNLEU, proceeded from the Town Hall premises and passed through the main thoroughfares of the city before culminating at the Freedom Fighters Park where a public meeting was held.

AITUC leader Seshadri, in his address, called for better co-operation and co-ordination between labour unions in order to urge the Government to agree to their demands. He maintained that the workers and farmers in the country were going through the worst times.

Regretting that no political party is bothered about the real issues faced by workers and farmers in the country, Seshadri said that earlier workers were classified as casual and permanent. But now we have many classifications like contract employees, fixed-term employees etc., and such divisions have been created to make exploitation of workers easier, he observed.

At Ganabharathi

Labour Day celebrations was also held at Ganabharathi premises. Speaking as the chief guest, District Principal and Sessions Judge S.K. Vontigodi rooted for better awareness of labour laws among workers. Pointing out that he had worked in Labour Courts and resolved many disputes, he said in majority of cases, he had noticed that labourers had little knowledge of labour laws and its provisions, which should not be the case.

Stressing on the need for employers and institutions to take the effort of educating the employees on labour laws and rights, Judge Vontigodi said strikes and layoffs should not be unnecessarily declared as it would hurt the growth of industrial sector.

Deputy Labour Commissioner C.B. Balakrishna spoke about the shortage of staff that his department is facing and appealed the Government to fill the posts at the earliest.

Mysuru District Legal Services Authority Member-Secretary B.P. Devamane, Karnataka State Daily Wage Employees Association President Pramod Chikkamannur and others were present.

In other May Day celebrations, the Mysuru District Congress Committee felicitated porters at the City Railway Station.

MLC R. Dharamasena, City Congress President R. Murthy and other party leaders garlanded the porters and presented them gifts.

BJP MLA L. Nagendra felicitated Pourakarmikas at Ambedkar Park in Kuvempunagar.

The Mysuru Chapter of Builders Association of India and Mysuru Builders Charitable Trust organised a slew of entertainment programmes for construction workers and their families at Mahajana College. Several senior construction workers were also felicitated.

Mysuru Polymers and Rubbers Products celebrated May Day at Kalamandira in which the employees were treated to variety entertainment.

Newspaper distributors feted

Newspaper Distributors were felicitated at a programme organised by Pathi Foundation at Agrahara Circle yesterday.

Speaking on the occasion, Foundation President M.D. Parthasarathy said that a legislation on 8-hour work per day was introduced for the first time on May 1, 1881 and the first May Day was celebrated on May 1, 1886 in America.

Pointing out that May Day is being celebrated in India since 1923, he stressed on the need for more organisation of the working class.

Highlighting the role of Newspaper Distributors and Agents in distributing newspapers to every household early in the morning every day, he said that the Government must provide financial security to them.

Newpspaper Distributors Manjunath, Chethan and Manjanna were felicitated.

Congress rebels hobnob with Sumalatha at star hotel

Mysuru, May 2 (OSR)- Even as Mysuru District Minister G.T. Devegowda (GTD) claiming that JD(S) workers in Udbur village of Chamundeshwari Assembly segment supported BJP in Lok Sabha election has caused embarrassment to coalition partners, a video is doing rounds in social media where Congress rebel leaders from Mandya are shown attending a dinner meeting with Sumalatha Ambarish, who contested as an Independent candidate against Congress-JD(S) alliance candidate Nikhil Kumaraswamy in Mandya.

Congress rebels N. Cheluvarayaswamy and P.M. Narendraswamy (both former Ministers), former legislator H.C. Balakrishna, Ravi Ganiga and Malavalli Shivanna are among the prominent Congress rebels who were seen at the dinner hosted by Sumalatha at a star hotel in Bengaluru on Tuesday.

The meeting is seen as an indication that the rebel Congress leaders had worked in favour of Sumalatha in the bitterly fought election in Mandya. The video clip was aired by Kannada news channels yesterday.

Sumalatha Ambarish

Interestingly, some of the leaders who attend the dinner meeting are close followers of Co-ordination Committee Chairman Siddharamaiah. In fact, Cheluvarayaswamy and Balakrishna quit the JD(S) and joined the Congress in 2018 at the behest of Siddharamaiah.

These leaders had stiffly opposed the Congress' decision to allow alliance partner JD(S) to field its candidate from Mandya. Besides, most of these rebel leaders have a running spat with JD(S) father-son duo H.D. Deve Gowda and Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy. Despite efforts by Congress to convince them to work for Nikhil in the elections, the rebel leaders had indirectly supported Sumalatha.

'Delay led to confusion'

In another development, GTD admitted that a section of JD(S) workers in Mysuru had worked in favour of BJP candidate Pratap Simha. "Delay in ensuring understanding between Congress and JD(S) workers led to confusion in parts of Mysuru. The joint campaign started with only five days left for polling," he stated.

He said while Congress workers voted for their candidate C.H. Vijayashankar, the JD(S) workers voted for BJP in Udbur village, due to differences among them. "Despite, myself and Siddharamaiah speaking to JD(S) workers, they decided to support BJP at the last minute. There are two factions in Udbur and they do not listen to anyone. Except Udbur, the coalition was a success in other areas and Vijayashankar will win the polls," GTD said. He opined that there should not be coalition for Lok Sabha elections. There was delay in nominating the candidates and lapses in following the coalition dharma, he said. Devegowda also said that the outcome of Lok Sabha elections will not have any impact on JD(S)-Congress coalition government.

Action against rebels

Meanwhile, State Congress chief Dinesh Gundu Rao said it is not proper on the part of a Minister (G.T. Devegowda) to make such statements. Deputy Chief Minister Dr. G. Parameshwara said the Disciplinary Committee of the Congress will look into the rebel party leaders holding a dinner meeting with Sumalatha.

"The Committee will obtain reports from the Mandya unit of the party in this regard and will recommend appropriate measures. The party will take action against them based on the report," he told reporters.
